

The Grayling Independent Baseball Club really roared into action Sunday at the City Park Field and trounced their arch rivals, Gaylord, 12 to 0.

Grayling scored their first run in the second inning, added another in the fourth and exploded a big 10 run rally in the sixth inning. Grayling scored their 12 runs on 10 hits and 6 Gaylord errors. Grayling turned in but one display Sunday and gave up 7 hits to the Gaylord batters.

Bob "Musty" Gildner went the distance for Grayling on the mound and struck out 7 while Ed Owens led a line of Grayling pitchers to the mound that struck out 8 and walked 5. Tom Anthony and Hank Aldhauser handled the catching duties for Grayling, while Gaylord Jack Lovelace batted behind the plate. Al McCoy led the losers in two hits in four trips to the plate, while the Grayling leaders were Clyde Anthony with 4 for 3, Ed Owens with 2 for 4, and Caid with 2 for 5. Clare Burns with 1 for 4, Bernie Sadiak with 1 for 4, Bob Gildner with 1 for 5, and Duane Worden with 1 for 5.

Next Sunday, Grayling travels Alpena to take on that city's long team in the North Michigan Baseball League. It will be a game and the Grayling team is playing under a definite handicap. Although thoroughly rated in the first half of the season, Grayling boasting not a single victory, has shown much better ball in this last half with victories against three losses.

Sunday, August 26, Grayling is slated to play in the final game of the 1951 season.

Plan Deer Study Areas

To better determine the portion of Michigan's estimated one million deer which should be harvested each fall, the Conservation Department is going to fence in two natural northern study areas of about 700 acres each.

Game men say there is no question that the present herd needs considerable cropping in certain parts of the state, to get it down to a size more consistent with the available deer range. However, research biologists are looking for a better means of studying animal productivity and survival, with the facts regularly gathered serving as a guide in setting fall hunting regulations for future years as well.

One fence in area will be near the Cusino wildlife experiment station in the Upper Peninsula. The other will be at an undetermined Northern Lower Peninsula location in the vicinity of the recently established Houghton Lake experiment station. Extreme care is being taken in selecting the two approximately 700-acre study areas in order that they may be representative of typical deer range in the Upper Peninsula as well as in the Northern Lower Peninsula where the winter food shortage is more acute.

Plan is to live-trap and liberate a number of deer comparable to local Upper Peninsula populations on the same size range, late next winter or early spring. The sex and age composition will be duplicated as near as possible. Houghton Lake station plans are not as far advanced.

The studies, under controlled but near natural conditions, will determine the proportion of breeding adults, number of fawns produced, factors affecting fawn survival, number of fawns reaching maturity by hunting season, and most important, the huntability surplus. Censuses will be taken at intervals to determine the number of white-tails which should be removed in order to keep the enclosed herd at a fixed level. Removal will be by hunting and/or winter live-trapping.

Fence openings are planned which permit passage of predators such as coyotes and bobcats, but arranged so that it would be difficult for small deer to leave the enclosure. Coyotes are relatively common in the Cusino area and predators should be able to enter the enclosure in attempting to duplicate natural conditions.

Project funds will come from the existing federal tax on sporting arms and ammunition and partly from state hunting license fees.

Placed about the house were numerous bouquets of flowers making a pleasant setting for the affair at which seventy five ladies were present.

The honored guests who are to be brides are Miss Barbara Borchers and Miss Emily Giegling.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. C. Elwood Bonine of Vandellia, Mrs. Charles Schreiber of Phoenix, Arizona, Mrs. Marvin Moss of Chicago, Mrs. Robert Galloway of Lacrosse, Wisconsin, Mrs. Anne Dobson of Oostburg, Mrs. William Morgan of South Bend, Indiana, and Mrs. Bernard Sargent of West Branch.

Rescue Youth Buried 7 Hours

Jesse Smith, 19, of Traverse City was buried in 18 feet of sand for 7 hours last Sunday when a hole which he was digging to retrieve a well point caved in upon him. Smith was digging near the cottage of his father-in-law, Corporal James Barton of the Traverse City State Police Post located 7 miles west of Frederic on the Blue Lake Road near the Manistee River Bridge on County Road 612.

Smith was digging 18 feet below the surface for the broken point of a well casing which he was driving when the walls of the excavation collapsed on him at about 11:30 A. M. Sunday morning. Word was rushed to Frederic where Sheriff William F. Golinick and the State Police Post were notified. Sheriff Golinick in turn notified Dr. Stanley A. Stealy of Grayling and Sonson's Ambulance, who rushed to the scene. A posse of rescuers hurried to the scene of the near tragedy with shovels. A rubber hose was driven to the buried youth and oxygen administered by Dr. Stealy. Rescuers reached Smith on two occasions when the sand poured in to the excavation again burying him anew. The rear porch of the cottage was torn off and used as a support to hold back the sand and at one time an oil drum with the ends cut out was lowered over the youth's body to protect him from the tons of sand.

The excavation crane of Jack Milikin of Grayling was rushed to the scene and operated by Jack and Roy Milikin and finally drove a hole through from the side to rescue the buried Smith at 6:30 P. M. Sunday evening, 7 hours following the original collapse of the hole.

Rescuers numbered near 100 including State Police, Conservation Officers and Sheriff's Department. Smith's condition was excellent upon his release considering the number of hours he was buried. He suffered slightly from shock but was physically all right. On advice of a physician, he was ordered to bed for a few days.

Feldhauser-Reihl Vows Solmenized

At a lovely ceremony performed Saturday morning, August 11th, at 10 o'clock in St. Philomena Catholic Church, Beal City, Gloria Jean Feldhauser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Feldhauser of Grayling, became the bride of Edward A. Reihl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reihl of Mt. Pleasant.

The Rev. Father Neubecker officiated at the double ring ceremony and Nuptial High Mass, before an altar banked with white gladioli, and the choir sang "Ave Marie."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of traditional white satin fashioned with a fitted bodice, a rising neckline held in place by a double strand of pearls, wrist point sleeves, and also featuring a long, soft train. A fingertip veil of French silk illusion was secured to a lace and rhinestone crown. She carried a white satin prayer book topped with white rose buds from which streamers fell.

The brides attendants were twin sisters of the groom. The matron of honor was Mrs. Arthur McCoy of Mt. Pleasant and Mrs. Hugh McDonald acted as bridesmaid. They wore gowns of pink and blue and respectively styled of lace and chiffon with matching head-dress and carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and white gladioli.

Arthur McCoy, brother-in-law of the groom, acted as his best man and ushers were Richard Reihl and Herman Fox.

Mrs. Feldhauser chose lilac for her daughter's wedding, complimented with white accessories, and Mrs. Reihl wore navy with white accessories. Each had corsages of white roses.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the members of the immediate families at the home of the groom's parents.

A reception was held at the Reihl residence in the late afternoon and evening for 400 guests who enjoyed a lovely lawn supper and dancing. The lovely 4 tiered wedding cake was served to the guests at 10 o'clock, after which the newlyweds left for a weeks honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

For traveling the bride chose a navy suit with white accessories and her corsage was white roses. Guests were from Grayling, Detroit, Lansing, Traverse City, Coleman, Flint, Saginaw, Ohio, Manistee, Royal Oak, Pontiac, Farwell, Mt. Pleasant and Port Huron.

After returning from their trip, Mr. and Mrs. Reihl will be at home to their many friends at Mt. Pleasant, Route 1.

A minimum of 45 holes of golf is required for this play. 18 holes on Sunday and 27 holes on Monday to complete the eliminations. All players will be matched by their handicaps and its anybody's game. There is a cup for the winner, so be sure you have your handicap established and leave your name with Little George Morrison so the pairings can be arranged. Play golf for health. Good luck.

Reception Set For Saturday Evening

Michigan's own 46th "Iron Fist" National Guard Division, muscled in regiments and battalions and interspersed with the heavy mechanized machines of warfare will pass in review before Michigan's Governor C. Mennen Williams at Camp Grayling this Saturday, August 18, in one of the highlights of the 1951 field training encampment.

Saturday has been designated Governor's Day in honor of the commander in chief's visit to the historic military training reservation. The chief executive is expected to arrive by air in Grayling Saturday morning, make a brief inspection tour of the encampment and before lunching with Major General Ralph A. Loveland, divisional commander and members of his staff.

Ceremonies of the traditional Division Review will begin at 2 P. M. when the Governor will present the Brigadier General Earl M. Stewart medal to an enlisted man, symbolic of his selection as the outstanding citizen-soldier of the 1951 encampment. Final elimination in this annual competition will be held at Camp Grayling this Friday.

Following the Governor's inspection of the troops and the pageantry of the massing of the colors, the nearly 8,000 officers and men of the 46th Division will pass in review in a demonstration of the massed manpower and equipment of Michigan's National Guard Division. Hundreds of relatives and friends of Guardsmen are expected to throng the sidelines to witness the colorful highlight of the 1951 field training encampment.

Governor Williams will be the guest of honor Saturday evening at a reception at the Officer's Club at Camp Grayling. Following the reception of officers and guests by high Guard officers and the Governor, dance music will be furnished by the newly organized 46th Division dance band.

On Sunday morning, Governor Williams will be the principal speaker at the annual Memorial Service held during each encampment in honor of the hero dead of the Michigan National Guard who have given their lives in battle for their country. The Memorial Service will be held on the slope of Division Hill.

Families and friends of many guardsmen are expected to attend the activities of Governor's Day and the following day. Sunday afternoon has been set aside as a period of rest and recreation for all troops. Unit cooks will prepare extra servings to give visiting families a taste of camp life.

Engel-Stephan Team Wins Again

The canoe race team of Fred Engel and Stephan Reihl repeated their victory in the Sturgeon River Canoe Race last Sunday as they bettered their time by ten minutes.

Close on the winner's stern was the team of Elmer Kellogg of Frederic and Bernie Fowler of Grayling who paddled over the line just nine minutes behind the winners.

Engel and Stephan turned over in trying to shoot the upper river dam but clambered back into their canoe to negotiate the twisting, winding 35 mile river course in three hours, nine minutes and fifty seconds. Their winning time last year was three hours, nineteen minutes and thirty three seconds.

The Fowler-Kellogg team time was three hours, eighteen minutes and twenty-seven seconds. A crowd of about 500 cheered the starters as they hit the river at Cornwell Ranch about eight miles south of Wolverine, Sunday morning and a good crowd was on hand to meet 21 year-old Engel and 25-year-old Stephan as they broke their last year's record. The winners received $118 and a trophy while Fowler and Kellogg received $62.

Earl Graham and Jackson Brown of Alpena, third place winners received $31. The third place team were the victors of the Newago-Muskegon River Race this year.

This is the seventh race in three years that Stephan and Engel have paddled as partners. After tipping over in shooting the upper dam, the winners grabbed the lead when they successfully jumped the lower dam, with their 18 foot canoe.

Units of the 46th Division will move into the field next Tuesday, August 21 for exercises which will include an infantry division in the attack. The two-night bivouac will include security measures and resupply at night. Artillery and armored units will train in conjunction with the problem. Nearly all of the troop maneuvers will be north of the downriver road and east of Grayling, centering around the Lovells Road. Motorists traveling that route on the nights of Tuesday and Wednesday are urged to take it easy and keep their eyes open.

On Tuesday, units will return to the main camp. On Friday, the eagle will fly as all Guardsmen receive their Federal pay for the 1951 field training encampment. That same night rail movements will start the trek to home stations throughout the state. Motor movements will begin Saturday morning, August 25.

The first week's training, scheduled took most of the troops to Camp Grayling's extensive array of firing ranges for further practice and qualification scoring with small arms and crew-served weapons.

Warned by their commander, Major General Ralph A. Loveland, that a truce in Korea would not necessarily mean end to the world crisis and the need for American mobilization, Guardsmen of the 46th Infantry Division took to the firing ranges armed not only with their various weapons but also with the knowledge that lessons learned here may some day stand them in good stead. Exactly when General Loveland could not say.

Retreat parades will top each day's training events during the first week. Medals will be awarded to outstanding Guardsmen at two of these colorful parades. The Major General Thomas A. Colladay Medal will be awarded to the top enlisted man selected for soldierly proficiency, in the 125th Infantry Regiment. The outstanding man in the 126th Infantry Regiment of Western Michigan will receive the Colonel Merle H. Howe Medal.

Lieutenant General Stephen J. Chamberlain, Chicago, Commanding General of Fifth Army, will visit Camp Grayling Thursday, August 16, for a personal inspection of the Guard's training progress. Regular Army inspection teams will spend a week in camp inspecting the many individual units of the 46th Division.

SORENSEN FUNERAL HOME

CAMPAIGN SEEKS HIGHWAY SAFETY

William Golinick, Sheriff of Crawford county, reminds all motorists of Crawford county that his department is cooperating with the State Highway Department and the Michigan State Safety Commission in a program designed to make our highways safer. The campaign continues through the month of August.

This week, Sheriff Golinick says, stress is being put upon the reasons for obeying traffic signals. "This is an all-out drive to save lives, prevent injuries and stop the property damage on our streets and highways," he said. "Traffic signals are very dangerous," the Sheriff said, "unless all drivers obey them, because drivers approaching from opposite directions depend upon each other and when one fails to heed a stop light a crash is certain. Stop and go lights, yellow flashing lights, and red flashing lights, are there for driver and pedestrian protection, but do not provide automatic safety. If all drivers and pedestrians obeyed the traffic lights at all times there would be no accidents at intersections."

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler says that stop and go signal lights are placed only after careful study determines that safety conditions at an intersection will be definitely improved. He warns that drivers trying to "beat the lights" are the greatest contributors to intersection accidents.

If the weather has been hot, the political picture most certainly hasn't. Capitol activity has fallen off to the lowest summer in years, with only the occasional hum of a few politicians laying foundations for fall maneuvering to break the monotony. Only action worthy of mention has been among Democratic incumbents, Governor Williams and U. S. Senator Moody and Republican aspirants Fred M. Alger, Jr. and John B. Martin, Jr.

Williams, who has not yet announced he will run again, has been crossing frequently between the governor's summer home on Mackinac Island and the mainland. Alger, who would like to displace Williams, has been touring the state in an unfamiliar Alger style, speaking to many groups and crowning several queens.

Senator Moody is hard to find. He's in and out of Michigan so often his associates find it difficult to keep track of him. Martin, who wants Moody's job, is being an aggressive Republican, currently touring the Upper Peninsula and objecting strenuously and publicly to anything from Democratic sections.

Auditor General John B. Martin Jr. has lashed out at the Liquor Control Commission's power "to throw out of line the entire budgeting process of the state by increasing liquor inventory." Commission Chairman George Burke, Jr., said tersely, Martin "makes noises like a candidate for the U. S. Senate."

The vacation season is at its heights with traffic streaming through Michigan from every state in the union. Slowed by chilly weather for a while, motorists hope now for a near-record year. Auto travel across the Straits was up 12.9 percent in the first seven months of the year. Ferries carried 321,235 cars in that period as against 272,030 in the same time last year.

State park and recreation areas are about on par with last year, but the number of outstate fishing licenses issued have gone up. Parks have had over 7,422,000 visitors thus far.

The State Defense Council hopes to get mass blood typing done cheaper and quicker. A second experiment has been ordered. Method to be tested is said to cost 33 cents and give persons their blood types in three minutes. The system now being used costs $1.10, and results aren't known for a month.

The Michigan State Bar will be asked to get behind a forced reapportionment of the legislature, a move long opposed by rural and upstate interests. Committee making the recommendation says reapportionment should remain based on population but should eliminate the "Moity" clause which permits a county to have one representative in the house though lacking sufficient population.

How does industry feel about Michigan? A survey by the State Department of Economic Development shows manufacturers like proximity to manufacturers' market, availability of skilled labor, nearness to materials and general characteristics of state as place to live.

They dislike high wage levels, low productivity — especially in Detroit — distance from markets and distance from steel sources.

No more enrollment padding has been found in Michigan schools. Twelve districts have been audited, 288 yet to go.

Michigan now ranks fifth in total motor truck registrations with 266,360, listed. California leads with 371,432.

Business apparently is good in the state. Reo Motors of Lansing reports that it sold $11,865,000 worth of lawn mowers in 1950-51. At the same time General Motors announces a $1 per share dividend on common stock and Oldsmobile says it will build a half-million cars a year by 1960.

New and used car dealers expect an upsurge in sales, but they aren't sure whether it will result from easier credit terms or fear of a price increase.

The Michigan Health Council is producing a movie on how to go about organizing a community health council. Most of the action is being filmed in Michigan towns.

Agricultural economists at Michigan State College predicts a substantial increase in egg prices in the next few months. They also see a continued strong demand for pork, a record U. S. corn crop and a plentiful supply of peaches.

OPS PLANS AREA MEAT SPOT CHECK

A spot check of beef dealers in several northern Michigan cities by Office of Price Stabilization representatives revealed widespread violations of ceiling price regulations on wholesale and retail beef sales.

John J. Frank, enforcement director in the 35-county eastern Michigan area under the Detroit district OPS office, has announced plans to send special agents to Alpena, Grayling, Gaylord, West Branch, Cheboygan, Tawas City, and surrounding areas in a drive to bring businessmen into compliance with the regulations.

Frank also issued a reminder that anyone slaughtering livestock with the exception of farmers slaughtering only for home consumption must be registered with OPS, and he must be registered specifically for the kind of animal he is slaughtering. A slaughterer is not allowed to kill any species which he did not kill in 1950.

Cancellation of the livestock slaughter quota provisions, effective Aug. 1, does not affect the registration provisions, which also require slaughterers to stamp animal carcasses with their registration numbers and to keep records of their operations.

A recent amendment to the beef regulations reduces the fat content of hamburger from 30 to 25 percent. It also provides for the sale of a leaner ground beef with a fat content of 12 percent or less, which may be sold at retail with a ceiling price of 10 cents a pound above that for hamburger.

However, in order to sell this pre-ground lean beef, retailers must display at all times at least as much hamburger of 25 percent fat content or less.

1952 Fall Wheat Goal 60 Acres For Crawford Co.

A production goal of 60 acres of wheat for harvest in 1952 was announced for Crawford county today by Stanley Hummel, chairman of the county Agricultural Mobilization Committee.

He also announced that the 1952 goal for rye is 15 acres.

Mr. Hummel explains that these goals have been set up to help the farmers of Crawford county in doing their part in the defense effort. Although no individual farm goals will be established, the county goal will serve as a guide to farmers in seeding their fall crops.

The 1952 goals are based on the need for all food, feed, fiber and oil crops and on the need for maintaining the land for future production.

The wheat goal for Crawford county is in line with the State goal of 1,250,000 acres and the national goal of 78,850,000 acres. The national goal calls for a slightly larger acreage than was seeded in the fall of 1951 for harvest in 1952. But this goal is expected to fill all known requirements for food, feed, export and a safe reserve as a protection against emergencies.

The goal for rye is designed to
